ABOUT TELACU

TELACU was established in 1968 as a pioneering institution committed to service, empowerment, advancement, and the creation of self-sufficiency. For more than half a century, TELACU has worked with people like you who are equally committed to equipping others with tools they need to build their own American Dream.

A job that pays a living wage; a new home that is affordable; a loan to finance the dream of owning a small business; a new school in which a child can aspire to greatness; a scholarship to fund a higher education—these are some of the tools all people need to build a life at the highest level.

The TELACU model for community development produces these tools. Each and every business TELACU owns and operates supports a double bottom line—profitability that is inseparable from social impact. New community assets in the form of industrial parks, schools, infrastructure, shopping centers, and municipal facilities are built, creating well-paying jobs for local residents. Quality, affordable homes are developed for first-time homeowners. Beautiful residential complexes are constructed and operated to provide safe environments for families and senior citizens. Responsive financial institutions are managed to create access to capital for small business owners and hardworking families.

At the forefront of TELACU's community development mission is the TELACU Education Foundation, established 36 years ago to empower Latinx young people and veterans with the most vital tool of all—an education. In partnership with our TELACU Familia—donors, corporate sponsors, and our network of colleges and universities—the Foundation provides scholarships to hundreds of college students each year. Virtually all of these TELACU Scholars, most of whom are first-generation young people from low-income families, earn their college degree. The Foundation also annually serves an additional 1,600 high school students, nursing school students and veterans, ensuring through our highly effective educational programs that these individuals stay in school, graduate and go on to fulfill their purpose in life.

Because of your generosity, TELACU Scholar Alumni can be found in places of influence throughout the world around you. The 1,000 women and men of TELACU consider it a great privilege to empower the next leaders of our communities—communities we build with partners like you.

We are so deeply honored that you have joined us for the 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala, presented by Toyota!

Familia*. It's a term you hear with great frequency in the TELACU environment, and a theme that has recurred prominently throughout our more than 50-year history.

For as long as TELACU has existed, we have had the privilege of being related to Familia like you. We share the same spiritual DNA of being committed with you to the great cause of empowering the communities we serve.

And for more than 35 years, our Familia has grown exponentially through your generous support of the TELACU Education Foundation. You have made it possible for thousands of young people and veterans to build their dream of a successful future through supporting their needs in higher education.

Tonight's 2019 TELACU "CREO" Award Recipients expand the concept of Familia to another level altogether. As the first sisters in California history to serve concurrently in the State Legislature, the life story of Assemblywoman Blanca E. Rubio and State Senator Susan Rubio serve as a quintessential example to our TELACU Scholars of all that is possible through education, perseverance and tenacity. And as our dear brother, Albert P. Carey, steps down this year as PepsiCo NA's CEO, we thank him for his extraordinary legacy of investing directly into the future of our community.

On the threshold of TELACU's next half century, we stand with you, our dear Familia, ever more committed to Building the Dream of our community's future. Thank you for your continued belief in us as we remain a pioneering institution committed to service, empowerment, advancement, and the creation of self-sufficiency.

iBienvenidos, Familia!

ABOUT THE FOUNDATION

Every year, the Foundation serves 2,000 first-generation high school, college and graduate school students, as well as military veterans, from underserved communities.

For over 35 years, we have been transforming academic and professional outcomes for Latinx youth—one of the nation's largest and fastest-growing demographics—by continually innovating solutions that empower them to succeed!

Our Continuum of Education, a dynamic model created by the Foundation and comprised of the College Readiness and College Success Programs, helps close the educational and professional gaps faced by low-income, first-generation students. Through a unique combination of highly effective programming, financial resources and a comprehensive support network, our students are equipped to graduate from high school, earn their college degree and enter the job market as well-prepared, competitive candidates.

Recognizing that a college degree is no longer a guarantee of success, and that the minimum requirements and qualifications sought by employers continue to rise, our programming is constantly evolving.

Our STEM & Business and Workforce Preparation Initiatives are designed to meet the specific needs of our Scholars. Beginning in high school, students are exposed to careers in high-demand and well-paying STEM-related and Business fields, previously believed to be unattainable for first-generation students. Since most Scholars are also the first professional in their family, we provide the training and personal coaching that enables them to develop the soft skills and confidence to succeed; and as work experience gains increasing importance in today's job market, we connect them to critical internship and employment opportunities provided by Foundation Partners and other major corporations. Historically, approximately 75% of TELACU

Scholars earn degrees in STEM and Business fields. Outside of these fields, our TELACU Scholar Alumni are excelling as leaders and increasing representation in numerous sectors including Academia, Law, Advocacy and Entertainment.

In addition to these Initiatives, the newest expansion of program services is advanced skill training that empowers Scholars to become Change Agents in their chosen career. Our newly launched Social Entrepreneurship/Intrapreneurship (SEI) programming affirms our Scholars' and Alumni's passion for social impact, while also providing them with tangible tools, resources, and connections to actualize their dreams of making a difference. These Change Agents will infuse more capital into the local economy; establish enterprises that create jobs; and be equipped to innovate positive and lasting change within their spheres of influence.

At TELACU, we believe that the truest measure of success is not the number of students who enroll in college, but rather the number of young professionals who graduate and go on to lead organizations and create businesses that carry on our mission of elevating the socio-economic status of underserved communities. They are the self-sufficient, well-educated role models who will inspire and invest in the next generation of Latinx leaders.

FOR OVER THIRTY-SIX YEARS, TELACU SCHOLARS HAVE BUILT A STELLAR LEGACY. HISTORICALLY, APPROXIMATELY 98% OF OUR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS GRADUATE AND ALMOST WITHOUT EXCEPTION PURSUE HIGHER EDUCATION; MORE THAN 99% OF OUR COLLEGE SCHOLARS EARN AT MINIMUM A BACHELOR'S, WITH AN INCREASING NUMBER GOING ON TO SEEK ADVANCED DEGREES.

HIGH SCHOOL

Students on the path to becoming the first in their family to attend college need ongoing academic and personal support to ensure they are taking the right courses to graduate from high school and are equipped to succeed in college. Campus tours and even immersive summer residency programs at local universities help strengthen their resolve, while the intense support they receive navigating the complex application process poises them to confidently take that next big leap into college life.

COLLEGE

At this stage on their journey, financial resources often make the critical difference between a student earning their degree or having to drop out. But financial resources alone, as important as they are, are insufficient to ensure that students are able to make the difficult transition from high school to college and ultimately to graduate. The Foundation provides students with the comprehensive support system, mentoring and services—from leadership and professional development to academic advisement and career preparation—that empower them to earn their degrees and gain the skills and experience necessary to fulfill their purpose.

POST-GRAD

In today's increasingly competitive and technical global workforce, the need for advanced degrees continues to rise. With few sources of financial assistance available for grad school, students from underserved communities are left at a distinct disadvantage. In partnership with Toyota and Purdue's Krannert School of Management, the Foundation mitigates this disparity by offering scholarships and a full complement of resources that empower Graduate Fellows to earn Master's, JDs, MDs and even PhDs from some of the most prestigious universities in the nation.

HEALTH CAREERS

For students interested in the nursing profession, the Foundation created a specialized track that provides financial resources to cover tuition and living expenses as well as a full complement of personal and academic services. This includes training that equips them to deliver culturally sensitive patient care in the language understood by our local underserved Latino community—Spanish. Participants graduate with an offer of employment from a partnering hospital, and many rejoin our Continuum of Education to attain the advanced degrees that poise them to achieve positions of leadership and influence.

VETERANS PROGRAM

The Foundation empowers the brave men and women who have sacrificially served our nation in the military. To help them more effectively transition into college, veterans receive personalized support and comprehensive services, including advisement and guidance on GI Bill benefits and the complex college admissions and application processes. Veterans are provided with access to free college preparatory courses taught by experienced instructors and Rosetta Stone courses—learning everything from language and math to typing and computer science.

“I am the first Edison Scholar who will begin her professional career at Edison!”

One of only a handful of females in the field of Industrial Engineering, Diana is dedicated to mentoring female students in STEM-related fields—a mission she has already begun as the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers' Director of Community Outreach and through her involvement with the USC Latino Alumni Association. She excelled in her studies, earning a spot on the prestigious Viterbi School of Engineering Dean's List as well as the USC Latino Alumni Association's highest honor, the Dr. John R. Hubbard Recognition Award. In addition to balancing her on-campus activities, studies and volunteerism at the Keck School of Medicine, she interned at Southern California Edison which led to an offer of full-time employment upon graduation!

POST-GRAD

BRIAN RAMIREZ, PhD
Mechanical Engineering
UC Los Angeles
MS, Mechanical Engineering; Emphasis in Solid and Structural Mechanics
UC Los Angeles
BS, Mechanical Engineering
Cal Poly Pomona

"I live really close to TELACU and walked by the building all the time. One day, I looked it up and applied to the College Success Program as an undergrad—now I have a PhD!"

Brian is, at his core, a purveyor of knowledge. In just four short years, he has transformed from a TELACU Scholar completing his Bachelor's to a David C. Lizárraga Fellow, Sponsored by Toyota, earning the highest degree in his field!

Passionate about academia, he was drawn to a career as a college professor. A two-time McNair Scholar, CSU LSAMP Scholar and one of the only Latinx PhD students in his highly competitive Mechanical Engineering Program at UCLA, he has mentored students through the Mechanical Engineering Honor Society (Pi Tau Sigma), Upper Bound, the Center of Excellence in Engineering and Diversity, and the High School Summer Research Program. A proud role model and advocate for future Latinx engineers, he has also been recognized as a California Alliance for Graduate Education and Professoriate Scholar, participated in the Southern California Forum for Diversity in Graduate Education and, most recently, was inducted into UCLA's prestigious Edward A. Bouchet Graduate Honor Society.

Co-author of several papers in the field of mechanics and materials, he has presented at several conferences—receiving SHPE's 2016 Best Graduate Presentation Award—and also earned a travel fellowship that enabled him to attend the Society of Experimental Mechanics International Congress. He has collaborated with Caltech and JPL as a member of the California Alliance Mentor Program, experimenting with dampening foam structures that have applications in athletic and combat protective gear. His innovative research has enabled him to co-author a pending patent, and even earned him a National Science Foundation (NSF) grant for commercialization of research that he co-authored with his faculty advisor. Together, they are learning how to build a startup company to capitalize on their innovation.

In addition to this entrepreneurial enterprise, the federal research facility responsible for the safety, security and reliability of our nation's nuclear weapons—the prestigious Lawrence Livermore National Lab—offered Brian a position after graduation. Ever the diligent student, he turned down that amazing opportunity to accept another one: a postdoctoral research position at Cal Tech, where he was selected to receive a 2-year NSF fellowship for his research proposal on "Hierarchical Elastic Metamaterials for Impact Attenuation."

"As a single mom, I knew that I needed a college degree to support my two sons, but I wasn't sure how to earn one.

The Veterans Upward Bound Program not only helped me figure out what I wanted to do with the rest of my life, but also how to do it. I am so proud to have become a role model of academic excellence for my kids—my new goal is to earn my Master's!"

TELACU

"CREO" AWARD RECIPIENTS

THE HONORABLE
BLANCA E. RUBIO

CALIFORNIA ASSEMBLY, DISTRICT 48

SUSAN RUBIO
CALIFORNIA SENATE, DISTRICT 22

TELACU “CREO” AWARD RECIPIENTS

TELACU is honored to present the 2019 “CREO” Award to Blanca and Susan Rubio. They each so perfectly embody the spirit of this Award — the “I Believe” Award.

Their commitment to public service truly aligns with the four cornerstones of the TELACU Mission Statement — Service, Empowerment, Advancement, and the Creation of Self-Sufficiency.

THE HONORABLE BLANCA E. RUBIO CALIFORNIA ASSEMBLY, DISTRICT 48

Assemblywoman Blanca E. Rubio was elected in November 2016 to represent California’s 48th Assembly District, which includes the cities of Azusa, Baldwin Park, Bradbury, City of Industry, Covina, Duarte, El Monte, Glendora, Irwindale, Monrovia, West Covina, as well as the San Gabriel Valley and unincorporated areas of Los Angeles County, including Bassett, Charter Oak, Citrus, East Arcadia, Ramona, Valinda and West La Puente.

Assemblywoman Rubio has worked tirelessly to give her constituents a voice in the Capitol, placing advocacy for children, women, families, students, and immigrants at the forefront of her work. Since her election in 2016, she has authored bills that support victims of domestic violence, create opportunities for children within the foster care system, ensure our youngest students are given proper support to succeed in school, and support immigrant communities. Through her work as Chairwoman of the Human Service Committee, Assemblywoman Rubio has raised awareness of women’s rights by authoring resolutions that declare August Breast Feeding Awareness Month and October Domestic Violence Awareness Month.

One of her greatest honors was to have all six of her bills that made the Governor’s desk signed in her first year of the Assembly. During her second year, Assemblywoman Rubio had twelve bills signed into law.

Before coming to the Assembly, Assemblywoman Rubio spent 16 years as a teacher and 20 years in elected office, serving on the Valley County Water Board, and Baldwin Park Unified School District Board. Her students-first philosophy made her a leader and champion for students in and out of the classroom. She was successful in her efforts to improve academic outcomes for students, aligning them with vital resources for college preparation.

Assemblywoman Rubio was born in Juarez, Mexico, and came to the United States with her parents at a young age. Her personal experiences have given her a genuine understanding of the everyday struggles and barriers that immigrants and working families continue to face in the United States.

Assemblywoman Rubio received her Bachelor’s Degree in Business Administration and Master’s Degree in Education with a Multiple Subject Teaching Credential from Azusa Pacific University. She is a resident of Baldwin Park and a proud mother of two children.

THE HONORABLE SUSAN RUBIO

CALIFORNIA SENATE, DISTRICT 22

Senator Susan Rubio was born in Juarez, Mexico, and is the proud daughter of a former bracero worker and housekeeper. She was elected to the California Legislature in 2018.

Senator Rubio attended East Los Angeles College and later earned a Master's Degree in Education from Azusa Pacific University, while working full time as a bookkeeper doing payroll and taxes for a small business.

As a lifelong educator, she started her teaching career in Baldwin Park Unified School District and was a teacher at Monrovia Unified School District for 17 years, including three years as Program Advisor and Assistant to the Principal.

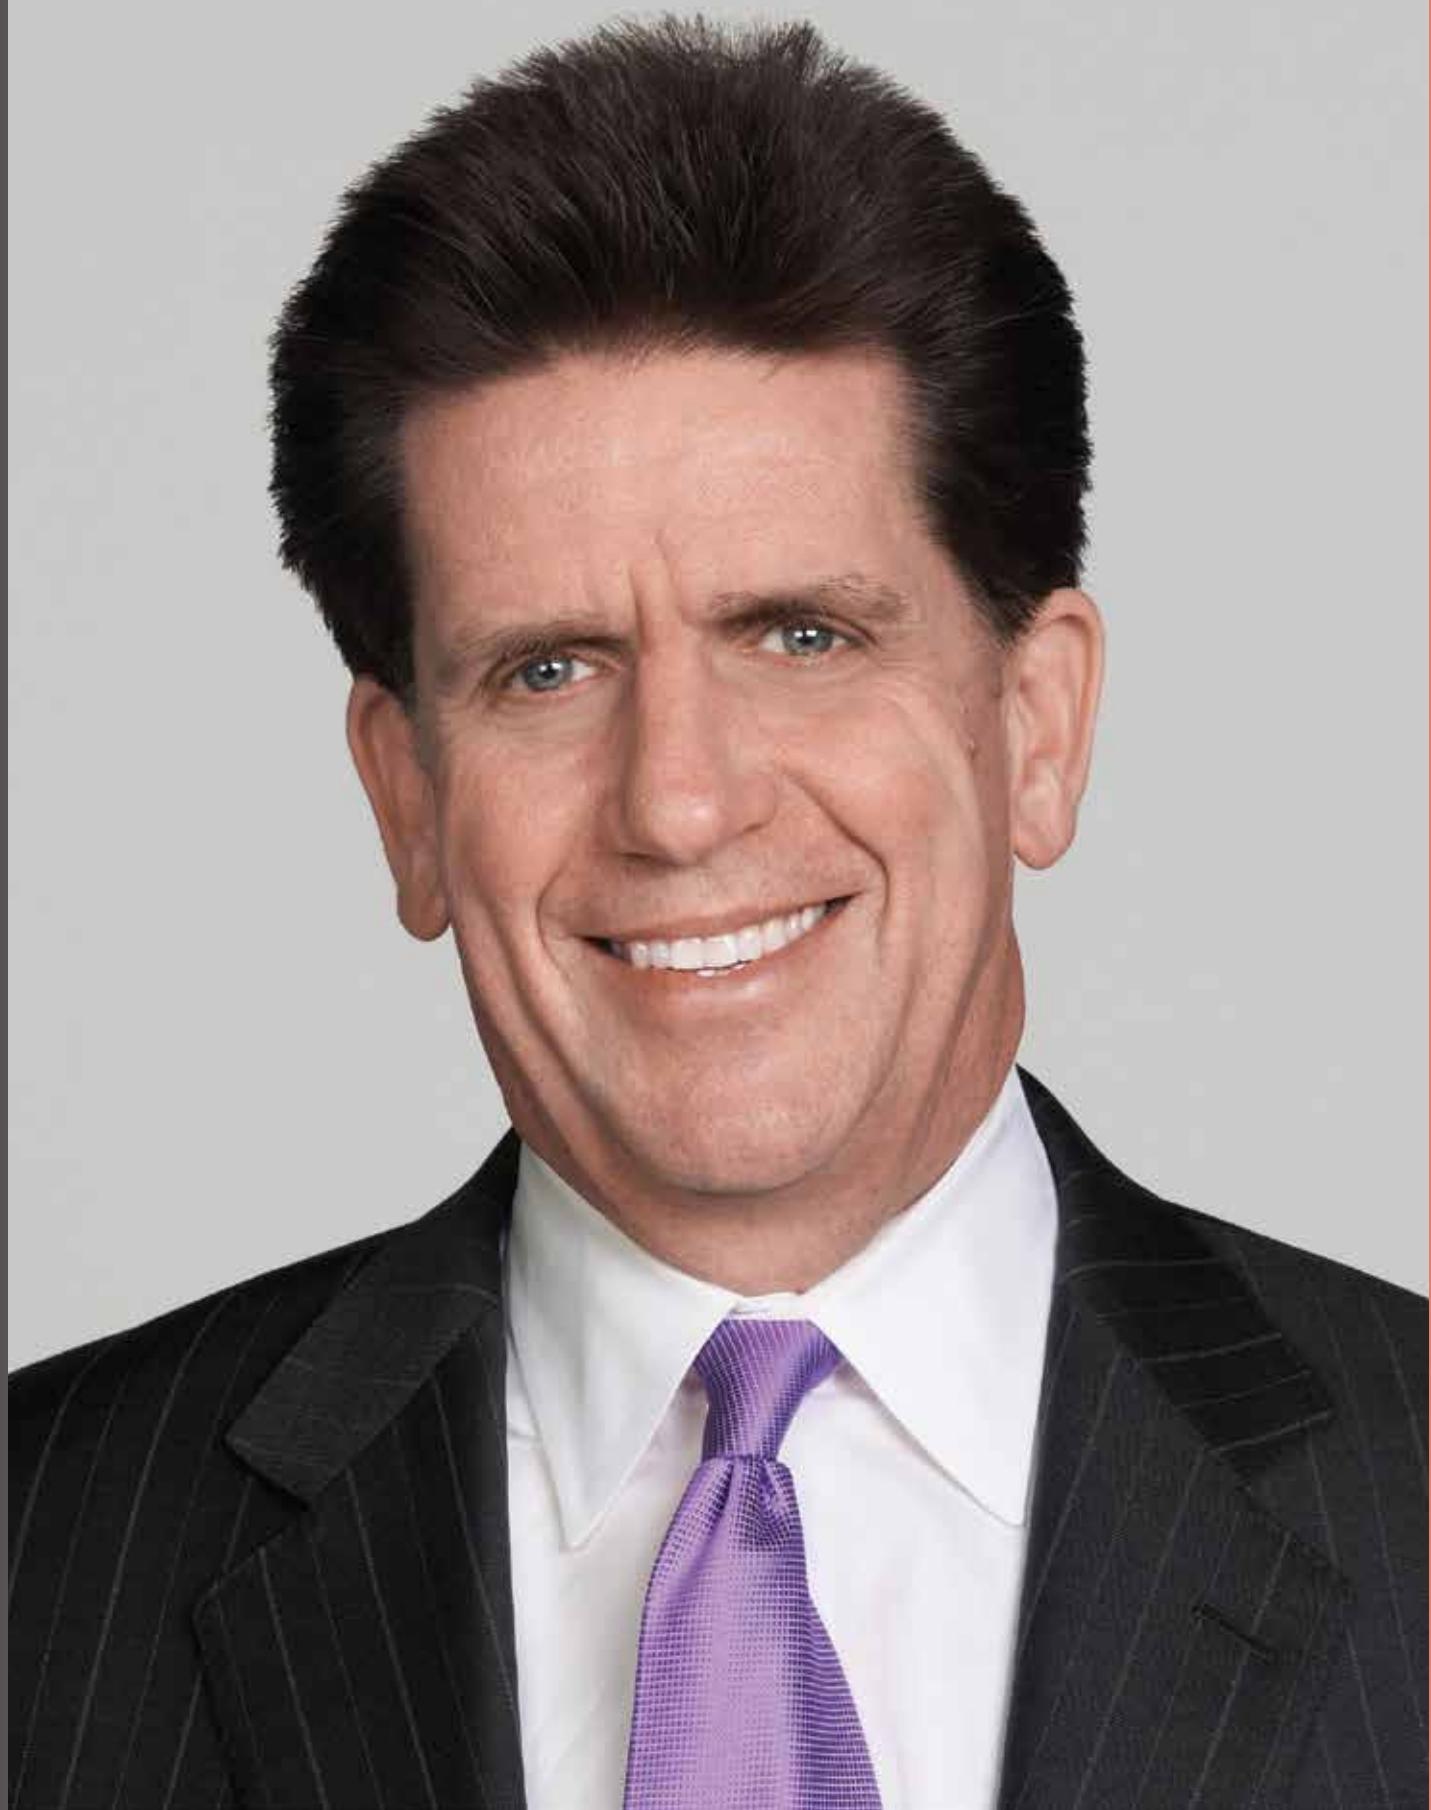

Senator Rubio was first elected as City Clerk in Baldwin Park in 2005, where she focused on providing equal service, transparency, best practices, and protecting democracy for city residents.

In 2009, she was elected to the Baldwin Park City Council, where she helped balance the city budget during the recession while protecting vital services like public safety. She also worked on policies that gave women equal representation on city commissions, creating domestic violence programs and implementing tougher environmental rules.

As Senator, she represents District 22 in the San Gabriel Valley. She is Chair of the Senate Insurance Committee and committee member of: Energy, Utilities, and Communications; Health; Transportation; and Governmental Organization. She is also a member of the Latino Caucus, Jewish Caucus, Los Angeles Caucus, San Gabriel Valley Caucus and Women's Caucus.

TELACU and our entire community are incredibly proud of the accomplishments of Assemblywoman Blanca E. Rubio and Senator Susan Rubio. We look forward with great anticipation to all the extraordinary things these dedicated women will continue accomplishing in the future.

TELACU “CREO” AWARD RECIPIENTS

ALBERT P. CAREY

FORMER PEPSICO NA CEO

TELACU is honored to present the 2019 “CREO” Award to Al Carey for his many investments in our community, and for his enduring commitment to Empowerment.

As one of his colleagues stated,

When other people looked at me, they saw what I was. When Al looked at me, he saw what I would become.

Albert P. Carey’s impressive career with PepsiCo spanned nearly four decades and culminated in five years as Chief Executive Officer of PepsiCo North America. As CEO, he was responsible for leading PepsiCo’s North America Beverage business, Frito Lay North America, and the North America Nutrition business.

Mr. Carey’s former roles at PepsiCo include CEO of PepsiCo Americas Beverages; CEO of Frito Lay North America; Chief Operating Officer of Frito Lay North America; Chief Operating Officer of North America Beverages; and President of PepsiCo Sales.

Having been recruited on-campus by Proctor & Gamble while attending the University of Maryland, he is committed to nurturing young talent and has returned to his alma mater as a guest lecturer at the University’s Robert H. Smith School of Business. Passionate about inspiring greatness in others and serving as a mentor to both students and colleagues, he encourages the entrepreneurial spirit and creates a space for innovation.

As a PepsiCo executive, Mr. Carey toured plants, encouraging frontline employees to think and act like owners. He was open to ideas from anyone—even from the janitor who approached him with an idea for a snack targeting the Latino market. A brilliant strategist who recognized the growing power of the Latino market, he mentored that janitor, a man we now know as the Godfather of Hispanic Branding, Richard Montañez, and together they launched the worldwide phenomenon—Flamin’ Hot Cheetos.

Under Mr. Carey’s visionary leadership, PepsiCo rolled out the nation’s first bilingual packaging; established the first Latino Employee Resource Group, serving as its first executive sponsor; and developed its highly profitable line of Latino products from the flagship Flamin’ Hot Cheetos to Pepsi Limón.

Mr. Carey is not only a champion of the Latino consumer, but of the Latino student as well. He forged powerful and long-standing partnerships with organizations like the TELACU Education Foundation and the Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute to empower young Latinos. He believes that education will help them be their best, which benefits our community, our country, and our world.

A devoted family man, upon learning that his dream job was based in Texas, he promised not to uproot his wife Vickie and their four children, and instead commuted from Connecticut for five long years. Because that’s what you do when you work like Mr. Carey and like PepsiCo, For the Love of It.

Hon. Gilbert A. Cedillo
Council Member
City of Los Angeles

WHEREAS, celebrating its 51st Anniversary, TELACU has been Building the Dreams for Los Angeles communities for half a century by fueling social and economic development through the creation of well-paying jobs, quality and affordable housing, responsive financial institutions, and educational opportunities; and

WHEREAS, TELACU established the TELACU Education Foundation in order to shatter barriers to academic and professional success for first-generation Latino youth from traditionally underserved communities, empowering them to attain higher education and to succeed in the competitive 21st Century workforce; and

WHEREAS, over its 35-year history, the Foundation has supported thousands upon thousands of Scholars—from high school through graduate school students as well as veterans—with a vital combination of four indispensable components: Scholarships; Academic, Leadership, Personal and Professional Development Seminars; Academic Advisement and Career Guidance with an Emphasis in Workforce Preparation; and Giving Back; and

WHEREAS, in addition to creating the Continuum of Education – a dynamic model which annually prepares more than 2,000 students from high school through graduate studies, with an emphasis in STEM and Business—the Foundation also addresses our community's growing need for seniors equipped to deliver competent in-language and culturally sensitive care; and

WHEREAS, the Foundation also serves students in Illinois, Texas and New York, emerging as one of the most effective national foundations impacting the needs of Latino communities; and

WHEREAS, TELACU Scholars have built a Legacy of Success: historically 98% of high school students graduate and almost without exception pursue post-secondary education, and 95% of college students attain at minimum a Bachelor's, with a growing number going on to pursue graduate degrees;

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that by the adoption of this resolution, the Los Angeles City Council, does hereby congratulate TELACU on its 51st Anniversary and the TELACU Education Foundation on its 26th Anniversary. We join you in celebrating the Annual Building the Dreams Gala by declaring that Friday, June 7, 2019, be known as "TELACU Scholars' Day" throughout the City of Los Angeles.

City of Los Angeles

June 7, 2019

Dear Friends,

On behalf of the City of Los Angeles, welcome to the TELACU Education Foundation's 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala, presented by Toyota.

For more than three decades, the TELACU Education Foundation has provided young Angelenos with opportunities to pursue higher education and supported thousands of first-generation college students with financial aid, tutoring, and career counseling. By empowering our young people, TELACU is strengthening our city for generations to come.

I would like to extend a special congratulations to Senator Susan Rubio and Assemblymember Blanca Rubio, who are receiving tonight's "CREO" Award in recognition of their tireless commitment to opening doors of opportunity for every student.

I send my best wishes for a memorable event and continued success.

Sincerely,

ERIC GARCETTI
Mayor

TELACU “CREO” AWARD RECIPIENTS

The “CREO” Award, TELACU’s most prestigious honor, recognizes individuals who exemplify the highest ideals and commitment to improving our community through personal and public service. In the Spanish language, the word “CREO” means “I BELIEVE.” The award represents the values of family, education and community joining forces to elevate our nation.

A MESSAGE FROM PRISCILLA

Angélica, before becoming
Dr. Gutiérrez, at 2010 Gala with
Dr. David and Priscilla Lizárraga

From: Gutierrez, Angelica
Sent: Wednesday, May 1, 2019 5:12 PM
To: Priscilla Lizárraga; David C. Lizárraga
Subject: Tenured!!!

Dear Priscilla and David,

I'm thrilled to share that we earned a promotion to Associate Professor with TENURE!!! God knows it took a village to get me here!!

I received the news this morning and the tears of joy have been nonstop. I wanted to share the news with you and those closest to me before sharing the news on social media.

Few will ever know what it took to get me here. I still remember getting the scholarship letter from TELACU as a senior in high school. I was already set on going to a nearby community college part-time, working full-time and eventually transferring to a four year university, but the scholarship you provided motivated me (forced me, actually) to go directly to a four-year university instead.

TELACU is truly a game-changer. Thank you for providing the financial and social capital that first-generation college students, like me, need to fulfill their dreams. You've always been there to provide encouragement. Without your support, there's no way that someone like me would've earned a Ph.D. and tenure at a business school (I grew up thinking only white people with money belonged in the business field). Thanks to you, someone like me gets to educate the next generation of business leaders.

I'm overwhelmed as I write this. I never imagined getting here. My grade school teacher and principal categorized me as learning disabled because I struggled in school. They told my mom I wasn't capable of learning in a traditional school system. Even though mom and I knew I was doing poorly because I simply didn't know English, the stigma of incompetence stayed with me. Well-intentioned neighbors encouraged me to focus on graduating from high school, and earning a diploma that would enable me to get a job and help my family financially. The scholarship I received from TELACU was the first indication that others believed I was capable of succeeding and doing much more than what my reality suggested at the time. The fact that you were willing to invest money into my education let me know that you saw potential.

Thank you for taking a chance on me and for believing in me even when I didn't believe in myself. You've been my academic padrinos all of these years, and for all of you, I am eternally grateful!

¡Abrazo fuerte!

TENURED!!!

One of the greatest blessings in my life is the privilege of getting to know some of the thousands of talented and deserving students who have been served by the Foundation. Most walk through our doors as young, dreamy-eyed high schoolers, and it is truly a joy to witness their transformation into amazing professionals who are rocking our world! Thanks to the generosity of partners like you, we receive countless powerful and inspiring messages like this one, and this evening it is an honor to share it with you.

GALA CHAIR

SEBASTIAN ONTIVEROS

NATIONAL DIRECTOR
MULTICULTURAL ALLIANCE AND STRATEGY GROUP
SENIOR MANAGER, CONSUMER ENGAGEMENT

Dear Friends,

Toyota is extremely proud to serve as the Presenting Sponsor of the 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala for the 13th consecutive year.

At Toyota, we're passionate about continuous improvement, and we know that lifelong learning is one of the key paths to success. We also know that successful individuals have a multiplier effect in their communities as they serve as role models to others.

In this spirit, it is with great honor that we congratulate each and every TELACU Scholar for their accomplishments and perseverance to pursue their academic aspirations. Over the past 36 years, TELACU Scholars have proven that they are the innovators and leaders of the future.

We at Toyota have been fortunate to have some of these promising young people join our team. Lizet Gutierrez is one of them.

A Toyota Scholar Alumnae, Lizet graduated with a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from California State University, Long Beach. She is now an OBD Calibration Engineer at Toyota's research and development division.

Lizet says earning her degree was one of the hardest things she has ever done, but receiving The David C. Lizárraga Fellowship, which Toyota has sponsored through the TELACU Education Foundation for the past 13 years, provided her with key motivation. She adds, "Toyota believed in my dreams and aspirations, and it meant the world to me. Their support was instrumental in reaffirming that I could be successful as an automotive engineer in moments where I doubted I could be. Today, I am beyond proud to be part of the Toyota Team."

Success stories like Lizet's do not happen by themselves. On behalf of Toyota, I would like to recognize and thank the families, educators, and the TELACU Education Foundation, which has helped thousands of young people fulfill their dreams, for their crucial support in helping bright individuals maximize their talent.

Toyota wholeheartedly believes in TELACU's mission of ensuring that youthful potential is fulfilled in all of our shared communities. We stand as steadfast partners in the development of many generations of talent to come.

IVAYAMOS JUNTOS!

Celebrating Toyota's 13th Year as Presenting Sponsor of our Building the Dream Gala!

Culturally, we often believe 13 to be an inauspicious number. Many buildings do not have a 13th floor, rare is the couple choosing to wed on the 13th of the month, and even here tonight, you will not find a table 13.

However, in our community, the number 13 harkens to history, when after a series of walkouts beginning in March of 1968, 13 young activists were indicted for conspiracy, facing up to 66 years in prison. Their crime? Organizing to bring attention to the educational disparities within Los Angeles public schools, especially for Latino students.

The Eastside 13—the face of a movement of more than 20,000 students demanding better education. The effects of the walkouts still echo in history more than 50 years later. The leaders of this movement went on to achieve highly in journalism, entertainment, activism, and education. They set the stage for hundreds of thousands of new leaders like Samuel Bañuelos, Paola Fernandez, Hugo Tejeda, Wilson Thomas, Denise Guzman Naranjo, Nathalie Camarena, David Betancourt, Candelaria Flores, Madai Rosas, Aarón Ruvalcaba, Celeste Tobar, Manuel Valdez, and Alicia Rodriguez—just 13 of the newly graduated Toyota/TELACU Scholars from Los Angeles County who have already begun to shatter new boundaries.

In 1968, Hispanic students were not expected to go to college. Of course, much is different today about the power of the Latino voice. Even so, “the struggle never ends,” and our community faces challenges with preparing for, financing, remaining in, and graduating from college. The walkouts were a solution for how to bring attention to problems of educational access in the Latino community. Today, we see it still holds true that change only happens through constant attention and dedication to understanding the needs of a community.

So tonight, in their 13th year of support, we acknowledge the transformational change and opportunity that Toyota has made a reality for thousands of TELACU Scholars. Without the work of generations of humans challenging the expected, and the support of powerful partners like Toyota, this would have been truly impossible.

Success in college still takes more than just paying for it, which is why Toyota supports more than just a scholarship. The Toyota/TELACU partnership provides comprehensive services, such as one-on-one academic advising and workforce development. The Industry Insider Series also provides students pursuing STEM and Business careers with an inside look at career paths, industry best practices, and valuable firsthand knowledge from career professionals. Scholars have gone on to secure well-paying internships that greatly relieve financial pressure, sometimes making the difference between dropping out of school and completing their degree. These experiences empower Scholars to smoothly transition into meaningful employment in high-impact fields.

For students who know where they’re going, Toyota’s dedicated support provides the vehicle to get there. For the Scholars who have benefitted and will continue to strive to start their impossible... you could say Toyota also provides the gas!

Toyota is proud to support students in the pursuit of their impossible.

Start Your Impossible.

PRESIDENT
ADVENTIST HEALTH WHITE MEMORIAL

MARY ANNE CHERN, FAHP, ACFRE

PRESIDENT
AHWM CHARITABLE FOUNDATION

Adventist Health White Memorial (AHWM) is a 353-bed not-for-profit, faith-based teaching hospital which provides a full range of inpatient, outpatient, emergency and diagnostic services to communities in and near downtown Los Angeles. Our hospital is part of Adventist Health, an integrated health system with clinics and hospitals across the West Coast and Hawaii.

Keeping our communities healthy has been the mission of AHW ever since White Memorial was founded by the Seventh-day Adventist Church in 1913. Our commitment to quality, whole-person care stems from our Seventh-day Adventist heritage. Today, healthcare sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist Church circles the globe with over 160 hospitals and nearly 500 clinics, nursing homes and dispensaries worldwide.

As a major teaching hospital, White Memorial also plays an important role in training physicians, nurses and other medical professionals. And we are an employer of choice for the communities we serve.

It is that commitment to developing and supporting the next generation of caregivers that has led to our strong and enduring partnership with the TELACU Education Foundation. Since 2002, the White Memorial/TELACU Health Careers Program has empowered more than 175 predominately Hispanic residents to earn a nursing degree. Participants pursuing an ADN, BSN or MSN receive comprehensive services that include case management, financial assistance, personal and professional training and development. These culturally competent nurses are then hired by Adventist Health White Memorial to serve in high acuity departments such as the Emergency Department, Intensive Care Unit and Neonatal Intensive Care Unit.

There are approximately 3.1 million nurses in the United States, only 6% of whom are Hispanic. Every year graduates of the Health Careers Program join that critical group of nurses, without whom White Memorial, or any other hospital, could not do the job we are all committed to doing on behalf of our community.

Congratulations to all our TELACU Scholars. You are what makes our community exceptional and what drives our future. And thank you to the Lizárraga family for everything you do for our community, our health, and our future.

Thank You, Adventist Health White Memorial, for Inspiring Health in Our Community!

With impressive 100% ADN and BSN graduation as well as RN licensure passing rates, Program graduates are hired by this iconic institution that has been serving our community for more than a century and is ranked on the Honor Roll of US News & World Report's 2018-19 Best Hospitals. Program graduates are trained and certified to provide culturally sensitive, competent in-language care to the Hospital's predominantly Hispanic patient population. More than half serve in high acuity departments such as the Emergency Department, and the Intensive Care and Neonatal Intensive Care Units.

Encouraged and supported by the Hospital and Administration, Program graduates are able to pursue higher levels of education to gain the additional knowledge, skills, and expertise that will equip them to better serve their patients and to assume increasing roles of leadership. Nearly 70% have attained or are currently pursuing advanced degrees.

Program participants have access to the Hospital's CEO and team members at every level, thanks to the generous commitment to personal engagement by leadership and staff. Consistently ranked among the most meaningful of these opportunities are the Meet the CEO, Graduation Recognition Dinner, Patient Experience Workshop, and Nurse Shadowing Hours.

The affinity developed through these experiences, along with the Hospital's overall investment, create a unique and mutually beneficial bond—clearly proven by the amazing 90% employment retention rate Program graduates have maintained over the past 10 years!

2019 Graduation Dinner—consistently ranked one of the Program's most meaningful events!

Utilizing a holistic model, the Program: provides stipends and scholarships for local students pursuing an ADN or BSN; funds comprehensive services that include one-on-one case management and professional development, coaching, and mentoring; and covers costs of the Kaplan NCLEX-RN preparation course and RN licensure fees. Participants also receive intensive training that equips them to deliver the culturally sensitive, competent in-language care that is elevating health care for the thousands of patients they serve each year.

LEGACY PARTNER

LUPE DE LA CRUZ SENIOR DIRECTOR PUBLIC POLICY AND GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS WEST REGION

PepsiCo is proud to support this special evening in honor of the TELACU Scholars, Senator Susan Rubio, Assemblywoman Blanca Rubio, and our former Chief Executive Officer of PepsiCo North America, Al Carey.

The TELACU Scholars represent the importance of investing in our future — they are some of the best and brightest minds who are making a difference in their communities. Senator Susan Rubio and Assemblywoman Blanca Rubio remind us that we can achieve anything with determination, persistence and education. They epitomize the soul of America, and that our strongest moments as a people come when we lift up those shared values that unite us. And Al Carey — he is a visionary leader who throughout his career has broken down barriers, demonstrated a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion, and exemplified servant leadership — a leader whose legacy will continue to be felt and celebrated in the public and private sectors.

In addition to honoring these individuals, we gather to also celebrate the invaluable contributions of the TELACU Education Foundation — ensuring thousands of our underserved Latino youth get access to quality education, so they can compete and win in the marketplace. TELACU's work reflects the values important to PepsiCo.

As the largest food and beverage company in the United States, we believe we have an important role to play in helping to advance social and economic opportunities in the communities where we operate because our overall, long-term success is linked to the value we provide. This belief is why we've maintained our long-standing relationship with TELACU because we know when we adhere to the values that unite us, we are stronger as a people.

On behalf of PepsiCo, congratulations to this year's honorees. And to the leadership of TELACU, thank you for your dedication and unwavering commitment to creating a future better than our past.

Change Agents innovate a better tomorrow, thanks to PepsiCo!

By investing in Scholars today, PepsiCo's promise and mission—to provide opportunities for growth and enrichment—is creating the Change Agents of tomorrow!

Over the past decade, significant funding from the PepsiCo Foundation has continually empowered the TELACU Education Foundation to grow and enrich programming, with a special emphasis on workforce preparation.

The Workforce Preparation Academy (WPA), funded by the PepsiCo Foundation, provides the professional development and career preparation TELACU Scholars need to thrive in the increasingly competitive 21st Century workforce.

The latest expansion of the WPA was sparked by the growing passion shared by Scholars and Alumni to utilize their degrees and experience to "do well" for themselves and their families, while also "doing good" for their communities and society. Training in Social Entrepreneurship/Intrapreneurship (SEI)—an emerging business trend whereby successful professionals also become Change Agents in their chosen career—empowers Scholars to affect positive change whether they are starting their own businesses or accepting positions with existing companies.

At our SEI Kick-off event earlier this year, several successful Change Agents, whose challenging and inspiring journeys have already created positive impact, were invited to share their insights and encouragement with Scholars.

Jairi addresses the national crisis of food deserts by restructuring small neighborhood stores to boost sales while also providing local families with access to health conscious food choices at affordable prices.

Leah is making the healthy practice of yoga accessible and affordable in underserved communities with limited financial resources.

Barney is dedicated to community revitalization through the spirit of entrepreneurship, inspiring communities to invest in themselves and in their local businesses.

Social Entrepreneurs and Intrapreneurs infuse more capital into the local economy, create jobs, and innovate in collaborative ways to make tomorrow even better than today!

With PepsiCo's unwavering partnership, Scholars are developed into Change Agents, ideas are turned into actions, and dreams are transformed into realities!

CORPORATE CO-CHAIRS

CAROLINE CHOI SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT CORPORATE AFFAIRS

Edison International applauds TELACU for your tradition of building dreams through access to education. For 36 years, TELACU has been providing a way for thousands of Latinx scholars to reach their goals. TELACU has provided a pathway to success for judges and legislators, teachers and nurses, and thousands of great parents who have shared their dreams with the next generation of scholars and achievers.

This is the true value of education.

As a longtime supporter of education in Southern California, with a focus on STEM, we share your commitment to these scholars. We are proud to have worked directly with TELACU to make their success a reality by contributing more than $700,000 to TELACU since 2004. In 2018, we supported 20 TELACU College Success Scholarships for students in STEM fields, and hosted TELACU scholars on our campus for a workforce preparedness event. Our engagement with TELACU is part of our $4.5 million annual investment in local college and college-bound students. Additionally, our Edison Scholars Program provides $40,000 scholarships to 30 outstanding high school seniors every year.

New college graduates who bring a diverse set of backgrounds and experience are crucial to building our clean energy future. We are grateful for TELACU's achievements in improving educational opportunities for thousands of deserving students in our local communities.

Your success, and the success of TELACU's student scholars, benefits us all.

CLAUDIA LIMA DIRECTOR OF COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT LENDING AND INVESTING

CIT Bank and its OneWest Bank division are committed to supporting the local community of savers and small businesses because we think of ourselves as an extension of the local community.

Through our community investment program, CIT expresses our commitment to fairness and inclusion in every decision and investment. Among other activities, the bank actively supports and invests in affordable housing, economic development, neighborhood stabilization and core community services across Southern California. These priorities make CIT truly feel engrained in the fabric of the region.

This year, we are proud to partner with TELACU again to support the Education Foundation's College Success Program benefiting first-generation Latino students who live and work across Southern California.

JULIUS ROBINSON

MANAGING DIRECTOR HEAD OF CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

In a world that is constantly evolving, we need new, innovative ideas to solve some of our most pressing problems. MUFG Union Bank is dedicated to finding these cutting-edge solutions and tailoring our community support to achieve the most impact. While solutions may change, MUFG's values of Integrity, Respect, Service, Collaboration, Inclusion, and Stewardship endure; constantly guiding us as we give back to the communities we so proudly serve.

That is why we are pleased to support TELACU and the TELACU Education Foundation: They share in our vision to help uplift the next generation of leaders. In celebrating TELACU's 36th year, the Building the Dream fundraising gala provides critical funds to help support the many programs the TELACU Education Foundation offers to deserving college-bound students. MUFG Union Bank is firm in continuing its support to a cause that helps prepare students to successfully transition into the next phase of their lives—obtaining a college education.

On behalf of MUFG Union Bank, congratulations to all the TELACU Scholars and everyone who has been a part of making their dreams come true.

PETER VILLEGAS

VICE PRESIDENT AND HEAD OFFICE OF LATIN AFFAIRS

Since our inception in 1984, The Coca-Cola Foundation has given back more than $1 Billion to enhance the sustainability of local communities worldwide.

The Coca-Cola Company is committed to giving back 1 percent of its prior year's operating income annually. This commitment is made through The Coca-Cola Foundation and company donations. In 2017, The Coca-Cola Company and The Coca-Cola Foundation gave back more than $138 Million to directly benefit nearly 300 organizations across more than 70 countries and territories.

The Foundation has consistently supported learning inside and outside the classroom. However, addressing critical community challenges and opportunities is an evolving process. In 2007, the Foundation broadened its support to include global water stewardship programs, fitness and nutrition efforts and community recycling programs. Today, our strategies align with the Company's Sustainability platform and include women's empowerment and entrepreneurship.

Our community commitment is shared across The Coca-Cola system. When natural disasters strike, The Coca-Cola Foundation and the entire Coca-Cola system respond to offer emergency relief. In addition, the Foundation supports many local community programs such as arts and culture, economic development programs in the United States, as well as HIV/AIDS prevention and awareness programs in Africa and Latin America.

TIMELINE

YEARS AGO...

a group of concerned citizens stood on the threshold of a dream. It was a new dream, conceived within the possibility that a community could direct its own rebirth and renewal. It was a dream founded in the pioneering spirit of America—that hardworking men and women could build their own American Dream if they only had the tools to do so. It was in the spirit of this dream that a community was brought together, bound by a willingness to work hard, and driven by the knowledge that the dream would soon become a reality.

THEIR DREAM BECAME TELACU.

TELACU Founded

Through legislation authored by U.S. Senators Robert F. Kennedy and Jacob K. Javits, The East Los Angeles Community Union—TELACU—becomes the last of 30 original CDCs to be chartered and incorporated. Organized by members of the community and with assistance from the United Auto Workers, TELACU seeks to find ways for the disenfranchised local community to negotiate with the public sector for socio-economic equity in the same manner that labor negotiates with industry.

TELACU awarded a small number of scholarships—15 to be exact—to 7 young men and 8 young women who dreamed of going to college.

We were joined on that occasion by the families of those 15 men and women, as well as administrators from East Los Angeles College, Cal State LA, and USC—our very first family of partnering colleges and universities. That day we set in motion the belief in another dream. It was a dream that those 15 people would be the first of many thousands of young people to achieve their hopes and desires of creating a greater future for themselves and for all the people of our community.

CONGRATULATING THE TELACU EDUCATION FOUNDATION ON THEIR 36TH ANNUAL BUILDING THE DREAM GALA

HON. PETE AGUILAR
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 26, 2019

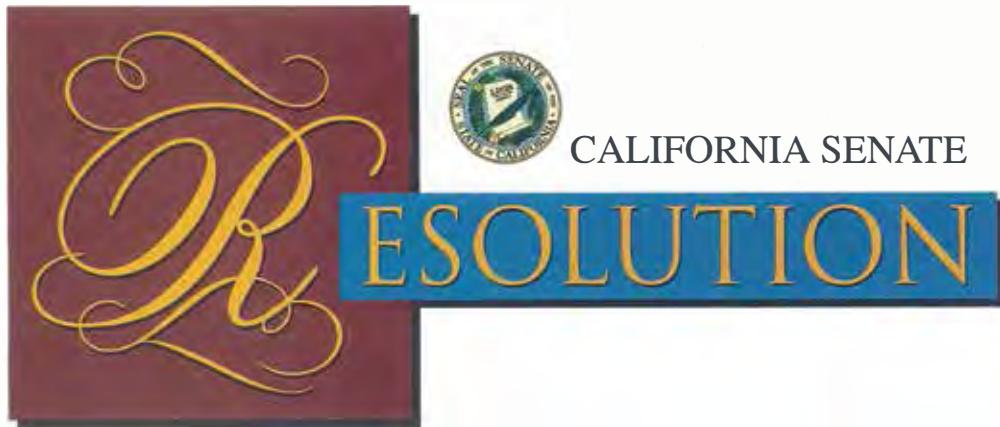

Mr. AGUILAR. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the TELACU Education Foundation, a non-profit organization that has empowered talented Latino students and professionals in my district and throughout the country to achieve success for more than 36 years.

TELACU is one of the largest and oldest Community Development Corporation in the U.S., celebrating 50 years of service just last year. As part of its commitment to service, advancement, empowerment and self-sufficiency among its constituency, and in response to crisis-level dropout rates for Latino students, in 1983 TELACU created the TELACU Education Foundation.

This year marks the Foundation's 36th anniversary of shattering barriers to academic and professional success for thousands of first-generation Latinos from underserved communities. In addition to providing critical educational services and resources for veterans, TELACU's Continuum of Education--comprised of the College Readiness and College Success Programs--annually propels approximately 2,000 TELACU Scholars from high school through graduate studies, equipping them with the academic credentials and professional tools needed to successfully enter the increasingly technical 21st Century workforce.

Historically, approximately 98 percent of high school TELACU Scholars graduate and nearly all pursue higher education; more than 99 percent of college Scholars earn a Bachelor's degree, with an increasing number going on to seek advanced degrees. Since TELACU Scholars are predominantly Latinos from some of the most economically-depressed communities in Southern California, their attainment of high school diplomas and college degrees directly benefits disenfranchised communities. Program graduates become self-sufficient, well-educated professionals and role models who inspire and invest in the next generation of Latino leaders. Their attainment of higher education, increased earning power and dedication to service leads to the socioeconomic empowerment of their local communities, and betters our country as a whole.

Madam Speaker, in recognition of the thousands of students, families and communities they have served and empowered, I ask my colleagues to please join me in congratulating the TELACU Education Foundation on the occasion of its 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala, and in celebrating their inspiring TELACU Scholars.

By the Honorable Toni G. Atkins, President pro Tempore of the California State Senate;
Relative to Commending

The Telacu Education Foundation

WHEREAS, On June 7, 2019, the TELACU Education Foundation will hold its 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala, and as a tribute to its distinguished record of public service and immeasurable contributions to advancing California's underserved communities, it is deserving of the highest public commendations; and

WHEREAS, Established in 1968 as a pioneering institution committed to service, empowerment, advancement, and the creation of self-sufficiency, TELACU has remained steadfast in its belief that providing tools to others in the form of jobs, access to capital for hardworking families and businesses, affordable housing for families and seniors, and community assets such as schools, industrial parks, infrastructure, and municipal facilities is the most effective means to empowering people to build a legacy for themselves and their families; and

WHEREAS, In an effort to shatter the significant barriers to academic and professional success often faced by the Latinx population, whose members drop out of high school at persistently high rates with few prospects for economic mobility, TELACU established the TELACU Education Foundation in 1983, and for the past 36 years, the Foundation has focused on empowering Latinx youth from traditionally underserved communities, as well as veterans, to attain higher education and succeed in the competitive twenty-first-century workplace; and

WHEREAS, In partnership with corporations, individuals, and a network of the nation's most prestigious colleges and universities, the TELACU Education Foundation serves more than 2,000 first-generation students annually, providing not only critical financial resources, but also the academic and career guidance and workforce preparation--including internship and employment opportunities--they need to progress from high school through graduate studies and into the workforce; and

WHEREAS, The TELACU Education Foundation and its network of committed partners have invested millions of dollars in thousands of deserving TELACU Scholars, who have built a legacy of success; historically, 98 percent of high school students graduate and, almost without exception, pursue postsecondary education, and 99 percent of those attending college attain at minimum a bachelor's degree, with a growing number pursuing graduate degrees; and

WHEREAS, This year's Building the Dream Gala will bring together nearly 1,000 leaders from the corporate, educational, and civic communities to support the TELACU Education Foundation's mission to combine important financial assistance with highly effective programs that ensure students' academic success, and during the event Assembly Member Blanca Rubio and Senator Susan Rubio will be recognized as recipients of TELACU's highest honor, the "CREO" Award; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE OF THE CALIFORNIA STATE SENATE TONI G. ATKINS, That she commends the TELACU Education Foundation for the vital role it has played in the lives of countless Latinx students and their families, recognizes June 7, 2019, as TELACU Scholar Day, and conveys her sincere best wishes for continued success of the Foundation's programs and services in the years to come.

Members Resolution No. 334

By the Honorable Miguel Santiago
53rd Assembly District; Relative to commending the

TELACU EDUCATION FOUNDATION

WHEREAS, The TELACU Education Foundation will host the 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala on June 7, 2019, and as a tribute to TELACU's distinguished record of public service and immeasurable contributions to the advancement of communities in California and beyond, it is deserving of the highest commendations of the public; and

WHEREAS, Founded in 1968, TELACU was established as a pioneering institution committed to service, empowerment, advancement, and the creation of self-sufficiency; and

WHEREAS, The youth of the nation's largest ethnic minority—the Latinx community—continue to face significant academic and salary gaps, as less than half of Latinx students entering college enroll in a four-year institution and less than one in five Latinx individuals age 25 to 29 hold a bachelor's degree or higher; and

WHEREAS, In 1983, TELACU established the TELACU Education Foundation in order to shatter barriers to academic and professional success for first-generation Latinx youth from traditionally underserved communities, empowering them to attain higher education and to succeed in the competitive, twenty-first century workplace; and

WHEREAS, The TELACU Education Foundation has developed a dynamic model, the Continuum of Education, which annually serves approximately 2,000 students in high school, college, and graduate studies, as well as veterans, and also addresses the community's growing need for nurses prepared to deliver culturally sensitive and competent in-language care; and

WHEREAS, Over the course of its 36-year history, the TELACU Education Foundation has supported thousands upon thousands of TELACU Scholars through a vital combination of four inseparable components: scholarships; academic leadership; personal, and professional development seminars; academic advisement; and career guidance with an emphasis in workforce preparation; and giving back; and

WHEREAS, In partnership with corporations, individuals, and a network of some of the nation's most prestigious colleges and universities, the TELACU Education Foundation has awarded millions of scholarship dollars to deserving students; and

WHEREAS, As a result of the TELACU Education Foundation's commitment, TELACU Scholars have built a legacy of success historically: 78 percent of high school students graduate and, almost without exception, pursue postsecondary education, and 99 percent of those attending college attain at minimum a bachelor's degree—75 percent of which are in a business or STEM-related discipline—with a growing number pursuing graduate degrees; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY ASSEMBLY MEMBER MIGUEL SANTIAGO, That he recognizes June 7, 2019, as TELACU Scholar Day; commends the TELACU Education Foundation for its outstanding commitment to empowering Latinx students and their families; and extends sincere best wishes for the continued success of its programs and services in the years to come.

VOICES OF LEADERSHIP

ATTORNEY GENERAL
XAVIER BECERRA
CALIFORNIA

On behalf of the California Department of Justice, I am honored to welcome you to the TELACU Education Foundation's 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala.

The TELACU Education Foundation has a long standing tradition of developing emerging leaders and encouraging professional success. This is accomplished through rigorous educational programs including College Readiness, College Success and Health Careers. Additionally, TELACU provides financial support to students and veterans to assist them with achieving their educational goals. I applaud TELACU for making a meaningful difference by investing in young students and making access to a quality education possible.

Tonight, TELACU is honoring Assemblymember Blanca Rubio and Senator Susan Rubio, recipients of tonight's "CREO" Award in recognition of their commitment to empowering young scholars and making positive impacts on the communities they serve. Congratulations to the 2019 TELACU Scholars who are being recognized tonight for their scholastic achievements.

U.S. SENATOR
DIANNE FEINSTEIN
CALIFORNIA

As your United States Senator representing the State of California, I applaud the TELACU Education Foundation for its tremendous dedication and contributions. Since its inception, TELACU has made significant contributions toward empowering talented young people to achieve their academic and professional goals. TELACU's tireless commitment to investing in communities through scholarship, career, and housing opportunities has touched the lives of countless individuals. There is no doubt that its efforts will continue to benefit the Southern California community for many years to come.

U.S. SENATOR
ROBERT MENENDEZ
NEW JERSEY

The TELACU Education Foundation's work is today more important than ever. Today, one out of every four children in high school or younger comes from a Latino home. However, Latino and Latina adults are less likely to achieve an associate degree or higher when compared to all other adults in the United States. Helping Latino and Latina students close equity gaps by overcoming the social and economic barriers to getting an education is what drives the TELACU Education Foundation's mission forward. As a product of the New Jersey public school system who has risen to become the highest-ranking Latino serving in the United States Congress, I know that investing in the future of Latino children is an investment in the future of America!

Juntos podemos avanzar la educación de todos nuestros hijos e hijas para un futuro más brillante. Muchas felicidades a TELACU Education Foundation por todos sus logros en los pasados 36 años.

U.S. CONGRESSWOMAN
NANETTE DIAZ BARRAGÁN
CALIFORNIA

What began as a scholarship program for 15 Latino college students has grown tremendously to annually help more than 2,000 first-generation, low-income high school, college, and graduate school students, as well as many veterans.

TELACU has not only helped students financially but also academically and professionally through mentorship and other resources. Your organization has been critical in ensuring that countless students get into college and successfully graduate through the support you provide throughout their educational journey. As the Representative of California's 44th Congressional District, I extend my deepest gratitude to TELACU's leadership for continuing the long tradition of supporting students. You have made an indelible impact on their lives.

VOICES OF LEADERSHIP

U.S. CONGRESSMAN
TONY CÁRDENAS
CALIFORNIA

Since its inception in 1983, TELACU's Education Foundation has transformed educational outcomes for our nation's largest and fastest-growing demographic, first-generation students from underserved communities in their quest for academic achievement. As a son of immigrants and the first Hispanic to represent the Northeast San Fernando Valley in the United States Congress, I commend TELACU's efforts in shattering educational attainment barriers that Latino Youth encounter. On behalf of California's 29th Congressional District, I congratulate the TELACU Education Foundation for all its achievements and unwavering dedication to students in our communities, who are the future of our country. Please accept my best wishes on this special night of fellowship.

U.S. CONGRESSMAN
JIMMY GOMEZ
CALIFORNIA

Tonight marks a special occasion where the community will come together to celebrate 36 years of transforming the lives of thousands of first-generation college students. Since 1983, the TELACU

Education Foundation has empowered thousands of students and veterans from our underserved communities on their journey to academic and professional success. Today, thousands of those students have earned their college degrees and gone on to do extraordinary things for our country. I would like to thank TELACU for their exemplary service, dedication, and leadership to the community. As the Representative of California's 34th Congressional District, I commend the TELACU Education Foundation for sustaining a positive impact in Los Angeles and for their commitment to transforming the lives of youths from our underserved communities.

U.S. CONGRESSWOMAN

CALIFORNIA

As TELACU reflects, gives thanks, and celebrates the great accomplishments of leaders in our communities at the 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala, I want to commend the TELACU Education Foundation for its work in achieving its mission to help individuals create better futures for their families. The foundation's efforts ensure that more than 2,000 low-income students and veterans will have comprehensive services and financial resources to succeed as leaders academically and professionally. On behalf of the United States House of Representatives and the people of the 27th Congressional District, I offer my congratulations and best wishes for continued success.

U.S. CONGRESSWOMAN
GRACE NAPOLITANO
CALIFORNIA

On behalf of the United States Congress and the Constituents of the Thirty-Second District, allow me to extend a warm welcome to all distinguished guests who support TELACU's praiseworthy mission of student empowerment and advancement. TELACU has made significant contributions in scholarships, opportunities, educational programs, and comprehensive services that enable students to become professionals in the future. I would like to acknowledge and commend TELACU for their unwavering support to students and their academic excellence. I wish your organization many more years of continued success.

U.S. CONGRESSMAN
J. LUIS CORREA
CALIFORNIA

Since 1983, the TELACU Education Foundation has improved the lives of thousands, including many first-generation Latino students, critical to the future of our communities. What was once a modest 15-student scholarship has grown into a network of thousands of students. TELACU alumni have become engineers, healthcare professionals, advocates, elected officials, educators, artists, and lawyers. The successes of TELACU Scholars have left a wake of inspiration in their tracks; motivating friends, family, and community members to pursue their goals as well. On behalf of the people in the 46th Congressional District, I want to express my sincere congratulations and support for the work of the TELACU Education Foundation. I am proud to join the TELACU Education Foundation in congratulating this year's scholars.

U.S. CONGRESSWOMAN
LUCILLE ROYBAL-ALLARD
CALIFORNIA

I commend the TELACU Education Foundation for its outstanding dedication to empower our community's talented youth and help them achieve their academic and professional goals. For over 36 years, TELACU has provided first-generation students with critical financial resources and a comprehensive support system to help them shatter barriers to higher education. Congratulations to every student receiving a scholarship award and best wishes for a successful and memorable evening!

U.S. CONGRESSWOMAN
LINDA SÁNCHEZ
CALIFORNIA

It is with great pleasure that I join you in celebrating TELACU Education Foundation's 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala.

For over half a century, TELACU has dedicated their efforts on empowering and providing the necessary resources for the betterment of the Latino community, providing academic and professional pathways, which help mentor and create the leaders of our society. I thank TELACU for their relentless and continued efforts in our community. It is my distinct honor to offer my congratulations to TELACU board members, staff, scholars and this evening's honored guests. ¡Les deseo lo mejor en este gran evento y sigamos luchando por la comunidad!

U.S. CONGRESSMAN
JUAN VARGAS
CALIFORNIA

For decades, TELACU's commitment to service, empowerment, advancement, and the creation of self-sufficiency has been truly inspirational and will have a lasting impression for years to come. Each year, their work in education impacts the lives of 2,000 first-generation, low-income students ranging from high school to graduate school as well as our nation's brave veterans. TELACU is a pioneer institution providing educational opportunities that create a better future. In addition, I want to congratulate the young people being presented with scholarship awards. TELACU Scholars succeed both academically and professionally as leaders across every sector of society. I applaud TELACU's dedication to them and the community.

U.S. CONGRESSWOMAN
MAXINE WATERS
CALIFORNIA

I am pleased to recognize the TELACU Education Foundation under the leadership of my friends, Dr. David C. Lizárraga and Dr. Michael Lizárraga, on the occasion of your 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala. As a supporter and consistent member of your Honorary Gala Committee, it gives me great pride to congratulate your outstanding work inspiring and empowering young Latinos to go after their dreams through higher education. Your efforts have convinced young people to not only stay in school, graduate from high school, but go to college to achieve their goals and attain true success for themselves and their families.

To the amazing scholars receiving their awards tonight, I salute you and extend to each and every one of you my very best wishes for success in everything you are doing to realize your full potential and make your dreams a reality.

SECRETARY OF STATE
ALEX PADILLA
CALIFORNIA

As we gather tonight to celebrate the 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala, we recognize the TELACU Education Foundation's work in the community. From providing college scholarships to leadership and professional development, TELACU has been a committed force in the community supporting and empowering Latino youth. Congratulations on more than 50 years of service to the community!

STATE TREASURER
FIONA MA
CALIFORNIA

As the 34th Treasurer of the State of California, it is my pleasure to join the TELACU Education Foundation on the occasion of the 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala. Since 1983, the Foundation has advanced educational opportunities for thousands of first-generation Latinx students from under-resourced communities. Through opportunities such as the College Success and College Readiness Program, students are given academic support and guidance to complete their education and become leaders in their communities. In addition, with the contributions of a network of committed partners, the Foundation is able to assist over 2,000 students and veterans reach their goal of receiving a degree in higher education.

I join with you in applauding tonight's "CREO" Award honorees: the Honorable Blanca Rubio, California State Assembly, District 48; the Honorable Susan Rubio, California State Senate, District 22, and Albert P. Carey, Former Pepsico NA CEO.

INSURANCE COMMISSIONER

CITY OF LOS ANGELES

For over 50 years, TELACU has empowered thousands of young Latinos and Latinas to aspire for greatness and achieve their dreams. As the daughter of immigrants and the first Latina to serve as President

Pro Tempore of the Los Angeles City Council, I want to commend all the young people here tonight and I wish them the best as they embark on their personal and professional journeys. This unique organization provides an incredible service to these students, and TELACU alumni are leaders in every sector they enter. I congratulate everyone here and TELACU on another successful year of creating better outcomes for young Latinos in the Greater Los Angeles Area.

COUNCIL PRESIDENT
HERB J. WESSON, JR.
CITY OF LOS ANGELES

As President of the Los Angeles City Council and on behalf of the residents of the 10th District in the City of Los Angeles, I am pleased to be on the honorary committee of the TELACU Education Foundation's 36th Annual Building the Dream Gala. Tonight's event celebrates the accomplishments of the amazing young people TELACU was created to empower. For almost four decades, the TELACU Education Foundation has transformed educational outcomes for thousands of first-generation students from underresourced communities. TELACU serves by continually pioneering solutions that shatter barriers to higher education faced by Latino youth—the predominant segment of our nation's largest and fastest-growing demographic. I commend TELACU's continued efforts to empower our young people by inspiring them to embrace their potential and direct their lives in a positive and rewarding direction.

BOARD PRESIDENT
MIKE FONG
LOS ANGELES COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT

Congratulations to tonight's honorees for your amazing leadership and efforts! And thank you very much to the TELACU Education Foundation for your strong commitment to excellence and service in the community and for embracing the hopes and aspirations of future leaders in the community. I commend your efforts, successes, and dedication. I am proud to partner with TELACU in helping improve the quality of life throughout the service area of the Los Angeles Community College District serving nearly 5 million residents.

Each and every year, for half a century, TELACU has enjoyed the tremendous support of leaders from the public sector, many of whom are with us here this evening.

COLLEGES & UNIVERSITIES

Each year, TELACU Scholars graduate from some of the most selective and prestigious colleges and universities across the United States, due in great measure to the generous financial support provided by our network of committed corporate partners. These funds are further leveraged through partnerships TELACU has established with some of these institutions to maximize their impact, ensuring that Scholars have sufficient funds to earn their degrees as well as to increase the number of scholarships we are able to provide. Below is a partial list of our Scholars' alma maters.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

For nearly four decades, the women and men of the TELACU Education Foundation have had the honor of empowering first-generation students from underserved communities to achieve academic and professional success. We are so incredibly proud of each high school diploma, college and graduate degree, and internship and employment position that our Scholars, including veterans and nursing school students, have earned over these past four decades. And we are privileged to see them grow and thrive as powerful representatives for their peers, families and all the generations yet to come. Beginning with just 15 students, our hopes and dreams of closing educational and professional gaps for Latinx students in our local community have been far exceeded by serving tens of thousands, thanks to the overwhelming generosity of partners like you! We are humbled beyond measure to be called mentors and friends by the phenomenal individuals who have allowed us to be a voice in their lives—who honor us by calling us Familia.

I would like to acknowledge and thank each and every person whose advocacy and dedication empower our TELACU Scholars to achieve their dreams. Our generous Sponsors, visionary Board of Directors, committed Advisory Board, and dedicated Staff propel our entire community, this Great State, and our nation forward. For everywhere we look, there is work to be done. And I am honored to continue that work alongside each and every one of you!

CONTINUUM OF SUCCESS

HIGH SCHOOL

ASHLEY PEREZ
South Gate High School
*Bachelor's in Computer
Engineering and Computer Science Candidate*
University of Southern California, Viterbi School of Engineering

Ashley's passion to disprove harsh assumptions about Latinos' academic ability fueled her to enroll in college-level coursework during her senior year, complete 10 AP classes, earn a perfect 4.0 GPA, and graduate as valedictorian of her senior class!

She also founded and served as President of South Gate High's Robotics and Peer Tutoring Clubs, supported her fellow students as a Peer College Counselor, and won the All-Star Rookie Award in the FIRST Robotics Competition.

Last summer, she participated in USC Viterbi's immersive SHINE research program, through which she contributed to research on Socially Assistive Robotics for autistic children and gained invaluable mentorship and connections that will support her when she officially becomes a Trojan in the Fall.

COLLEGE

MONICA AREVALO, BS
Mechanical Engineering
Cal Poly Pomona

Recognizing the lack of ethnic and gender diversity in the field of engineering, Monica has pledged to expose students—particularly Latinas like her younger sister—to STEM disciplines.

She has begun this mission by tutoring and mentoring students through the Educational Opportunity Program and the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers, and also as a volunteer at Breed Street Elementary. Through an engineering internship at Parsons Corporation, she had the opportunity to practice her skills while assisting the Transportation and Rail teams and was trained on industry software, including MicroStation.

POST-GRAD

AARÓN RUVALCABA, MBA
Purdue University
Krannert School of Management
BA, Political Economy
UC Berkeley

Motivated by his parents' emphasis on education, Aarón was the first in his family to graduate from high school and college and to attend graduate school.

Passionate about education, empowerment, and equity, while at Berkeley he mentored first-generation Latinx students and supported his three younger sisters' goals of attaining higher education. After college, he moved to Southeast Asia and founded an English language summer camp in Hong Kong and Vietnam before returning to Los Angeles to teach high school Spanish.

While pursuing his MBA, he served as President of the Krannert Graduate Student Association and founded the LGBTQ+ student group, Krannert Out. He is involved in broader diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives like the Reaching Out MBA (ROMBA) program. Poets and Quants named him one of 2019's "MBAs To Watch" and, recognizing the value he would add to their company, our Legacy Partner—PepsiCo—recently hired him as an HR Representative.

MELVIN LOPEZ, JD
University of Southern California
Gould School of Law
BS, Criminal Justice
CSU Long Beach

Growing up in a socio-economically disadvantaged neighborhood plagued by gangs, violence, and crime, Melvin made the conscious and conscientious decision to pursue an education that would empower him to combat issues prevalent in areas with limited resources.

Since neither of his parents had even a high school education and could not financially support his dream of higher education, he worked his way through college with jobs at New City Public Schools, LAFLA Self-Help Legal Access Center, and the Youth Policy Institute. A member of Alpha Phi Sigma—the only accredited Criminal Justice Honor Society—he was a Hale Moot Court Honors Program Quarterfinalist and Alumni Relations Chair of the Latino Law Students Association. Currently, he supports the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office as a Certified Law Clerk for the Preliminary Hearing Unit.

HEALTH CAREERS PROGRAM

JOSEPH PEREZ, BS, ADN
Associate of Science, Nursing
Rio Hondo College
BS, Fire Protection
Administration
CSU Los Angeles

With more than six years of experience as an EMT and a strong academic record, this Vice President of the Rio Hondo College Nursing Council was nicknamed Professor Joseph by his peers!

Committed to serving as a positive role model for his family, peers, and community, he has also served as a Catechist Teacher at his community church for a full decade. Now, he plans to merge his EMT background with his nursing education to train as an Emergency Department Nurse, and eventually to continue his nursing education, becoming an Advanced Practice Registered Nurse and Nursing Educator.

VETERANS PROGRAM

PATRICK DORAN
Army Veteran

Being out of the school setting for several years did not deter Patrick from enrolling and excelling in all levels of Computer Science courses.

Continuing the dedication to service ingrained in him as a member of our nation's brave military, he gladly assisted his instructor and helped classmates with their lessons. He was top of his class, received excellent scores on all of his exams, and was an avid participant in all Program workshops as well as Campus Tours—his unparalleled commitment even earned him selection as the Veterans Upward Bound Scholar of the Quarter! He plans to leverage this success to continue his education and pursue a career in Robotics.

2018-2019

DAVID C. LIZÁRRAGA FELLOWS SPONSORED BY TOYOTA

RODOLFO ISAAC BARRANCO ROJAS, MS
PhD Candidate in Mechanical Engineering
UC Los Angeles
MS and BS, Mechanical Engineering
UC Los Angeles

Rodolfo's story is one of perseverance. He and his family immigrated to the U.S. when he was 12 years old. Unable to speak English, school was difficult, and he would spend his breaks and lunchtime reading in the library to catch up to his peers. He not only caught up, he surpassed them, graduating with a 4.2 GPA and gaining admission to UCLA's highly competitive PhD Program.

Despite this success, as an undocumented student, he didn't qualify for most financial assistance and couldn't even apply for a driver's license, so he had to commute 2 hours each way on the bus just to get to class. Still, he found a way to make use of that time by recording all of his lectures and listening to them on the ride. Now, he is a standout student and has returned to his alma mater to help prepare high school students for college-level math classes. Along his educational journey he also completed internships in the Active Materials Lab at UCLA, and the Mechatronics and Embedded Systems Lab at UC Merced; he led his AISES Rocket Project Team to a 2nd place finish at the 2016 National Tribal College Competition sponsored by NASA.

RICARDO CACHUA, BA
MBA Candidate
University of San Francisco
BA, Business Administration: Accounting
CSU Fullerton

Nothing, not even life itself, has come easy for Ricardo. A five-year cancer survivor and the son of undocumented immigrants, he channels all of the struggles and hardships he has overcome into fuel to generate positive change. He joined TELACU's Continuum of Education as an undergraduate TELACU Scholar and was also named an Adelante, Hispanic Scholarship Fund, and Latino Business Student Association Scholar. While completing his Bachelor's, he co-founded LXGNDXRY—a clothing line with a core emphasis in creating social impact driven collections and community service—which donates funds to and raises awareness of social initiatives including the Santa Ana Relay for Life, Black Lives Matter, and the Orange County LGBTQ Center. Concurrently, he has worked as Assistant Media Planner for Conill Advertising, a full-service Hispanic Multicultural Advertising Agency, with high profiles client like Toyota and the LA Chargers.

JOSUE ENRIQUEZ, MBA, MS, PE
UC Los Angeles
Anderson School of Management
MS and BS, Civil Engineering
University of Southern California

Josue was deeply affected by the 1992 LA Riots. Not only did he experience them firsthand, but for years he also felt repercussions from the fallout ripple through his community. He became a civil engineer to empower underrepresented communities to reinvent themselves and become self-sustaining, even traveling as far as Honduras with Engineers Without Borders to increase the potable water available to children in Corral de Piedras. He also joined the Riordan Programs, raising more than $10,000 in scholarship funding and exposed high schoolers to higher education, leadership development and business through the Saturday Business Institute. Having spent more than five years with Arup—the international design firm ranked #14 in the world—and recently completing a Product Manager MBA Internship at Dell, he plans to merge his experience with a solid foundation in business to establish an angel investment firm that cultivates the spirit of innovation and entrepreneurship in his community.

ZUHEY ESPINOZA, MA
Doctoral (EdD) Candidate in Educational Leadership
UC Los Angeles
MA, Public and International Affairs
University of Ottawa
BA, Humanities/English; Chicano Studies Minor
Loyola Marymount University

One of an extended family of 30, Zuhey's graduation from college was not an expectation, but rather an exception—an unfortunate fact she is committed to changing. She participated in TELACU Programs throughout high school and her undergraduate career before travelling abroad to teach English in Taiwan, conduct research in Mexico City, and study in China, Canada and Sweden. Now back in the States, she is the Director of Policy and Government Relations at CSU Los Angeles, where she lobbies for access and resources at the local, state and federal levels. She has also helped secure $4 million in federal funding for LA BioSpace—a life science business incubator spurring economic development in the heart of East Los Angeles. With an ultimate goal of eradicating inequality through higher education policy, she hopes to become the youngest Latina CSU President in history!

PAOLA FERNANDEZ, MPP
University of Southern California
BA, International Relations
Minors in Spanish and Social Entrepreneurship
University of Southern California

While working for Los Angeles Mayor Eric Garcetti, Paola was struck by the gender and ethnic inequity in policy-making roles, and decided to earn an MPP to become a policy analyst who protects women's rights, helps eradicate poverty, and supports minority-owned small businesses. A natural leader, she is currently a Young Network Board Member and the Professional Development Director of Latinas Lead California, Director of External Affairs of USC's Graduate Student Government, and Professional Development Co-Chair of the USC Price Latino Association. Most recently, she joined the Leadership for Urban Renewal Network as a Research Fellow, which will support her ultimate goal of representing District 1 on the Los Angeles City Council.

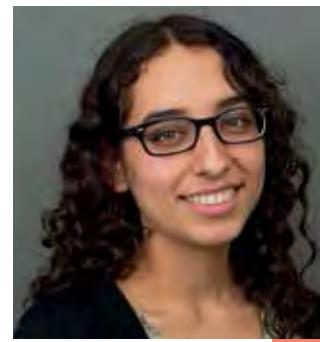

IRMA GORROCINO, BA
Master of Public Administration Candidate
CSU Los Angeles
BA, Journalism and Urban Planning
CSU Northridge

Irma was a struggling college student juggling three part-time jobs when her father was diagnosed with stage 4 multiple myeloma. Helping him navigate the complex health care system, she felt how dehumanizing and demoralizing the bureaucracy in accessing basic health and human services can be—particularly for the socio-economically disadvantaged and communities of color—and she vowed to make a change. She shifted her career path to focus on public service, joining the Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority as a Policy Analyst where she helped secure more than $112 million in HUD funding and coordinated the Regional Homelessness Advisory Council. She was later hired by the Office of Congresswoman Linda T. Sánchez, climbing the ranks from Caseworker to Senior Field Representative where she now oversees housing and health care issues within the district.

STEPHANIE HARO, BS
PhD Candidate in Speech and Hearing
Bioscience and Technology
Harvard University Graduate School of Arts and Sciences-Division of Medical Sciences
BS, Electrical Engineering
Brown University

Although her initial transition to college across the country was challenging, Stephanie soon acclimated and began thriving. Engaging in graduate level coursework while still an undergrad, she focused on digital signal processing and medical imaging techniques, and research and development of an automatic infant pain cry detection system for hospitals and a biologically-inspired bat sonar model. Recognizing that she could challenge the perception of minorities and women in engineering, she worked diligently to be the best and most prepared Electrical Engineering and Computer Science Teacher's Assistant at both MIT and Brown.

This is an impressive CV for anyone, especially for a first-generation Latina from Boyle Heights. Now, she is uniquely poised to develop next-generation hearing aids and protection devices as she pursues her PhD at one of the most respected universities in the world—Harvard—and continues her research at MIT Lincoln Labs with funding from the National Science Foundation's prestigious Graduate Research Fellowship Program!

BIANCA LIZÁRRAGA, MD, MPH
UC Los Angeles
David Geffen School of Medicine
BS, Psychobiology
UC Los Angeles

A participant in TELACU's Continuum of Education since 9th grade, Bianca completed UCLA's highly competitive dual-degree PRIME program, which integrates medical education, health disparity courses, community projects and a Master's degree. In addition to her studies, she is currently working on two research projects: one with the Los Angeles Department of Public Health focused on hypertension and blood pressure guidelines for the American Heart Association, and another with the UCLA Hotspotter Program developing a cost-effective system to care for high-utilizing patients.

Dedicated to service and empowerment, she worked as a counselor for pre-medical undergraduate students and was Senior Mentor for the UCLA First-Generation Medical Student Organization—and now she has gone global! After months of planning and fundraising, last summer she traveled to a rural village in Mysore, India as part of a week-long health fair which provided desperately needed services.

Armed with this extensive experience and her impressive resume, she recently landed a competitive residency where she will begin fulfilling her lifelong dream!

2018-2019

DAVID C. LIZÁRRAGA FELLOWS SPONSORED BY TOYOTA

LIZBETH MARTINEZ, BA

MBA Candidate

Northwestern University

Kellogg School of Management

BA, Business Administration

CSU Fullerton

Lizbeth is committed to opening doors of opportunity. As a DACA student and DREAM Act recipient, she struggled to find Latinx mentors and found her journey toward an MBA very lonely before she discovered a network of support at TELACU. In an effort to serve as a resource for her peers and for younger students, she is Director at Large of CSU Fullerton's Alumni Association, an MBA Prep Fellow with Management Leadership for Tomorrow, and a Big Sister in Orange County. Through her work with UCLA's Anderson School of Management Riordan Programs, she helped fundraise more than $80,000 for programming, high school mentoring, and scholarships. After completing her MBA, she plans to establish her own scholarship program and advocate for entrepreneurs as a member of the Small Business Administration leadership team.

EMILY MORENO, BS

PhD Candidate in Biomedical Engineering

UC Davis

BS, Bioengineering

UC San Diego

A Toyota/TELACU Undergrad Scholar, Emily is passionate about applying engineering innovation to combat the number one leading cause of death in the U.S.—cardiovascular disease. Despite taking on increasing responsibilities, including an Undergraduate Research position in the UCSD Cardiology Lab, her GPA continually improved. Former Outreach Chair of the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers, she was last year's Bioengineering Team Lead on the design and construction of a low-cost and safe ECG machine, as well as a collaborator on the design of a portable solar-powered medical refrigeration system for use in third-world countries. She is also a member of the Biomedical Engineering Society and a UCSD Jacobs School of Engineering IDEA Scholar. This summer, she tested and repaired donated medical equipment, ranging from centrifuge to ultrasound machines, as Bio-Tech Engineer Intern at Giving Children Hope, a non-profit organization that works to alleviate poverty, both domestically and internationally, through disaster relief and community development. She is now pursuing her PhD with the goal of becoming an interventional cardiology research and development team lead in the medical device industry.

LILIANA MONTES DE OCA, BS

Master of Mechanical Engineering Candidate

CSU Fullerton

BS, Mechanical Engineering

CSU Los Angeles

Though Liliana was a TELACU Scholar and received more than 10 additional scholarships, she worked 30-hour weeks to help support her family throughout her undergraduate career. Despite juggling so many responsibilities, she completed her rigorous Bachelor's degree in just four years and graduated in the top 5% of her class! She is now gaining technical experience with industry software including AutoCAD, Bluebeam, and Energy Pro as a Junior Project Engineer at Optimum Energy Design where she supports jobs ranging from school and tenant improvement to commercial building. Earning a Master's will empower her to pursue her passion to design efficient systems that reduce harmful emissions and ensure public health, safety, and welfare.

FRANCISCO MOXO GALICIA, BS

Master of Mechanical Engineering Candidate

CSU Los Angeles

BS, Mechanical Engineering

CSU Los Angeles

Francisco is the eldest of seven siblings and first college graduate in his family! Eager to share his knowledge and the skills and training he acquired as an undergraduate TELACU Scholar, he has served as an ITS Trainer Assistant and an Instructional Student Assistant at CSU Los Angeles, as well as a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Students United to Reach Goals in Education, and the Society of Hispanic Engineers. As Mechanical Lead in the Haptic Development Lab, he worked on proprietary VR technology using SolidWorks to model components for 3-D printer fabrication. Through the Teleoperations Robot Project, he led the development, design and testing of a Wi-Fi accessible autonomous robot that demonstrated human characteristics. He hopes to combine these hands-on experiences with his education to one-day build robots that will advance space exploration.

JENNIFER PERDOMO, BS
Medical Degree Candidate
University of Southern California
Keck School of Medicine
BS, Biology
Mount St. Mary's University

Jennifer's education and community clinic experience through the Keck Primary Care Program are preparing her to become a health care leader in underserved communities. Committed to inspiring the next generation, she served as Co-Chair of USC's Latino Medical Student Association (LMSA) where she mentored undergraduate students and, through its Educación Primero Program, exposed Latinx elementary school students to careers in the medical field. While studying for boards and preparing to transition into clinical rotations, she is working with her research team to publish their findings regarding perceived barriers and potential solutions to medication adherence in Latinx patients with diabetes.

JOSHUA DAVID VILLALOBOS, MS
Mechanical Engineering
Loyola Marymount University
BS, Mechanical Engineering
Loyola Marymount University

As a Toyota/TELACU Undergraduate Scholar at LMU, Joshua was accepted into the accelerated 4+1 program, enabling him to earn his Master's just one year after completing his Bachelor's! While on this educational fast track, he also served as Vice President of Recruitment at Delta Sigma Phi and was both an Edison International and LMU Latino Alumni Association Scholar. He gained valuable hands-on experience as a summer research assistant, conducting tensile strength testing on heat treated metal samples and compiling data, and through his work with Engineers Without Borders where he helped design hydrophobic houses for the homeless. Currently, he is a Design and Engineering Intern at Morf3D, responsible for inspecting 3D printed parts to ensure all dimensional accuracy, thicknesses and tolerances are met. His ultimate goal is to become a mechanical engineer in JPL's research and development department.

AARÓN RUVALCABA, MBA
Purdue University
Krannert School of Management
BA, Political Economy
UC Berkeley

See story on page 79.

ESAU TORRES, BA
MBA Candidate
Northwestern University
Kellogg School of Management
BA, Business Administration
CSU Fullerton

Esau is passionate about increasing Latinx representation in business and influencing systemic positive change from within. As a Google Cloud Program Manager, he developed initiatives to facilitate access to innovative technologies across Mexico—an experience he plans to build on with his MBA. His ultimate goal is to create a data-driven ad-tech company that develops market insights on diverse subsets of Latinx, leveraging market insights, such as how age and cultural demographics influence buying behaviors, to help companies improve their engagement with Latinx consumers via digital channels. He is also dedicated to giving back as a Mentor with the San Francisco State Buddy Program and as a Basic Tax Preparer with Mission Economic Development Agency.

ROXXETTE LEZLY ZEPEDA, MSN
UC Los Angeles
BS, Public Health
CSU Northridge

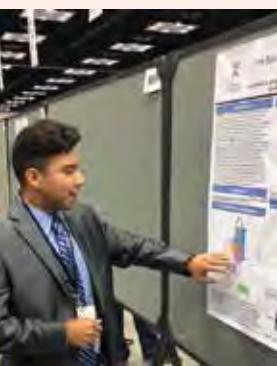

Roxxette's ultimate goal is to become a NICU nurse and researcher to care for the world's tiniest patients and help prevent infants from developing critical diseases before birth. A proponent of higher education, she is also writing a resource book, "Si Se Puede Ir Al Colegio", to help Latinx navigate the educational system in the United States and attain college degrees. She is an active member of Global Action in Nursing (GAIN)—an open forum for the UCLA nursing community to enhance knowledge and participation in global health—as well as an Educational Opportunity Programs Peer Mentor for incoming freshmen at CSU Northridge.

The TELACU Scholars extend their heartfelt gratitude to Carmen O. Perez, TELACU and TELACU Education Foundation Boards Member,
for helping to ensure the success of this Gala
over the past 17 years.

Inspired by your extraordinary achievements.

Adventist Health White Memorial is proud of our long-standing collaboration with the TELACU Education Foundation Health Careers Program – a program committed to empowering local nursing students personally, academically and professionally in making a difference in the lives of patients in underserved communities. This vital partnership is more than a means of achieving good health in our communities; it is fundamental to creating opportunities for growth and development that have a lasting impact on the vitality of our community. Thank you TELACU Education Foundation for the difference you make in the lives of these young professionals, their families, the patients they serve, and our community. Together inspired®

Without a Heart, it's just a machine.

So in 1971, a little Heart built a different kind of airline—one that made sure everyone could fly.

Everyone has important places to go. So we invented low-fares to help them get there.

Here, we think everyone deserves to feel special, no matter where you sit or how much you fly.

And with all the places we're going next, we'll always put you first, because our love of People is still our most powerful fuel.

Some say we do things differently.

We say, why would we do things any other way?

Without a Heart, it's just a machine.
